SOUTHERNREGIONAL
TECHNICAL COLLEGE

Technical College System of Georgia/Equal Opportunity Institution

MESSAGE FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT:

Notes from the desk of Dennis Lee:

Southern Regional Technical College is an educational institution that provides career opportunities for individuals who desire to improve their knowledge and skills in a desired field.

Why does Southern Regional Technical College include an Economic Development division?

Business, industry, and individuals need or desire specialized training in specific applications or activities. The Economic Development division offers noncredit courses that will satisfy the training requirements of Business and Industry and the personal enrichment desires of individuals.

Most of these courses are listed in this catalog, the Momentum; but if you do not see what you are looking for please let us know. Let us provide you with the opportunity to grow!

Sincerely,

Dennis Lee,
Vice President of Economic Development
Southern Regional Technical College

C E N T E R

The Role of the American Heart Association Training Center

The American Heart Association (AHA) has established a network of Training Centers (TC) to help deliver its Emergency Cardiovascular Care (ECC) educational courses and strengthen the Chain of Survival. TCs are responsible for:

- The proper administration and quality of the ECC courses that they, their aligned instructors, and Training Sites (TSs) provide.

- The day-to-day management of the TC, Training Sites, and instructors.
- Providing aligned instructors and Training Sites with consistent and timely communication of any new or updated information about National, Regional, or TC policies, procedures, course content, or course administration that could potentially affect an instructor while carrying out his or her responsibilities.
- Serving as the principal resource for information, support, and quality control for all AHA ECC Instructors aligned with the TC.

Southern Regional Technical College Training Center

Southern Regional Technical College (SRTC) is an approved Training Center for the American Heart Association. Our Instructor Network has 1083 certified instructors who are located from Blakely, Georgia to Douglas, Georgia and from Tallahassee, Florida to Albany, Georgia. The SRTC Training Center manages six Training Sites and issues an average of 850 provider cards per month.

Our instructors are certified to teach some or all of the following American Heart Association courses:

- Basic Life Support (BLS) Healthcare Provider
- Heartsaver First Aid, CPR, AED
- Heartsaver Pediatric First Aid, CPR, AED
- Heartsaver Pediatric First Aid
- Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS) Provider
- ACLS for Experienced Providers (ACLS EP)
- Pediatric Advanced Life Support (PALS) Provider
- Pediatric Emergency Assessment, Recognition, and Stabilization (PEARS) Provider

Emergency Cardiovascular Care Leadership Code of Conduct

All persons in AHA ECC leadership are expected to conduct themselves with honesty, integrity, and a commitment to the goals of the AHA and the ECC Programs. This code is intended to provide standards of professional conduct. The scope of the standards implied in this code includes activities directly related to the discharge of ECC leadership functions, such as committee activities and assignments, as well as actions performed with other AHA programs or activities, such as ECC classes and activities related to AHA affiliate programs.

Competence:

ECC leaders must demonstrate a competent knowledge relative to their assigned specific area of responsibility. Leaders must maintain all prerequisites for the position and participate in required educational or informational sessions.

Respect for others:

ECC leaders must respect and treat others fairly, regardless of race, ancestry, place of origin, color, ethnic origin, citizenship, religion, gender, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, age, disability, or any other basis protected by law. Additionally, there is no tolerance for sexual harassment, including sexual solicitation, physical advances, or verbal or nonverbal conduct that is sexual in nature and that is unwelcome, offensive, or creates a hostile work or classroom environment.

Integrity:

ECC leaders must conduct themselves with honesty, fairness, and trustworthiness and must not make statements that are false, misleading, or deceptive. ECC leaders must adhere to all applicable AHA rules and regulations governing the ECC Programs, course, and TC operations as well as all federal, state, and local laws and regulations in the discharge of their AHA duties.

Neutrality:

AHA volunteers should maintain neutrality in terms of specific proprietary products or brand names (eg, drugs, devices, and publications) and in terms of descriptions of other professional individuals and organizations. Specifically, whenever possible, generic names for drugs and devices should be used. While in their volunteer roles, instructors and Faculty should not be advocates for specific brand names or proprietary products outside of AHA recommendations. Furthermore, instructors and Faculty while in their volunteer roles, should use caution when referring to others, particularly when referring to differences or negative descriptions of other professional individuals or organizations.

ACT[®] WorkKeys[®]

Skills Assessments

Nationally recognized indicators of work readiness

ACT WorkKeys assessments are research-based measures of foundational work skills required for success across industries and occupations. They have been used for more than two decades by job seekers, employees, employers, students, educators, administrators, and workforce and economic developers.

ACT WorkKeys assessments measure the cognitive ("hard") and noncognitive ("soft") skills needed for success in the workforce.

For more information about the ACT WorkKeys assessments, go to act.org/workforce.

Benefits of ACT WorkKeys assessments

- ACT WorkKeys has the potential to help:
- Job seekers and incumbents improve career outcomes
- Employers and human resources professionals improve hiring, training, and promotion decisions
- Students succeed in a variety of career pathways
- Educators prepare students for postsecondary success
- Administrators demonstrate instructional impacts and satisfy federal or state accountability requirements
- Workforce developers remediate skills of displaced workers and document their readiness to reenter the job market
- Economic developers attract business and industry to local communities
- Industry associations build industry and occupation specific stackable credentials
- Policymakers and legislators develop research-based education and workforce policies
